

Ernest V. Tedeschi

ernie.tedeschi@gmail.com

<http://www.etedeschi.com/>

Education

M.A. Economics, University of California, Berkeley, 2008 (Expected)

Coursework: Econometrics, Non-Market Valuation, Urban & Real Estate Economics, Economic History

M.P.P. (Master in Public Policy), University of California, Berkeley, 2007

Coursework: Statistics, Microeconomics, GIS, Cost-Benefit Analysis, Modeling, Survey Design

B.A. Economics & Public Policy, Stanford University, 2002, Cum Laude

Experience

Research Assistant 2007
Professors Robert Reich and Laura Tyson U.C. Berkeley
Gathered, analyzed, and fact-checked labor statistics for Prof. Reich's recent book, Super-capitalism. Wrote and edited sections of forthcoming introductory economics textbook by Professors Reich and Tyson.

Consultant 2007
Office of Economic Analysis City and County of San Francisco
Produced thesis-length analysis of San Francisco's inclusionary housing program, using proformas and city statistical data to model the economic impacts on consumers and developers of a range of Below Market Rate (BMR) policies, as well as expected behavioral responses.

Legislative Analyst Intern 2006
Office of Legislative Analysis City and County of San Francisco
Analyzed pending legislation before the Board of Supervisors, including expanding the city's inclusionary zoning ordinance, municipizing the city's power supply, banning children's toys containing phthalates, expanding business improvement districts (BIDs), granting Planning staff citation power, and centralizing the city's grant writing positions.

Consultant 2006
San Francisco Ethics Commission City and County of San Francisco
Evaluated San Francisco's Partial Campaign Finance (PCF) system for Board of Supervisors elections. Derived a quantitative model of the impacts of the system on number of candidates, fundraising efficiency, and number of votes received.

Policy Analyst 2002–2004
Supervisor Liz Kniss County of Santa Clara
Analyzed and proposed changes to $1.7 billion FY2004 County General Fund budget. Drafted major policy speeches, papers, and shorter memoranda. Forged professional relationships with department heads and senior executives, and negotiated with them on specific budget items.

Ernest V. Tedeschi

Other Experiences and Activities

- Graduate Student Instructor, Economics 1, 2007
- Web Editor, PolicyMatters journal, 2005–2007
- Project Manager, Strategic Plan Assessment Ad-Hoc Committee, St. Paul's Episcopal School, Oakland, 2006
- Member of 1st Place Team, 1st Annual Deloitte Public Consulting Case Competition, 2005

Computer Skills

- ArcGIS Desktop (ArcMap, ArcScene, etc.)
- Statistical Packages (STATA, SAS)
- Decision Modeling (AMPL, Crystal Ball, OptQuest, Excel Solver)
- Miscellaneous (HTML/CSS, L^AT_EX, Photoshop)

Professional Affiliations

- American Economic Association (AEA)
- Association for Public Policy Analysis and Management (APPAM)
- American Real Estate and Urban Economics Association (AREUEA)